Articulate the significance of a multicultural education course to your academic experience. Include a description of what you hope to accomplish through enrollment in multicultural education and be sure to include any previous and/or relevant course work, research experiences (both in class and out of class) service-learning, work, or volunteerism in your essay. Describe the ways that you see yourself possibly being an educator in the future. In your answer, you may use a broad definition of being an educator. Do you see yourself possibly being a teacher, professor, or educating others in various capacities?

Please describe any previous involvement you have had with WMSURE and/or WMSURE scholars and/or faculty mentors.

How might you see yourself contributing to structural changes in education?

The course requires 40 hours of learning outside of the William and Mary Campus. I will help you with learning placements. You can definitely continue with pre-existing placements (work, volunteer, or otherwise). I encourage you to discover opportunities through the Office of Community Engagement and to consider working in a school that you have previously attended as well as Historically Black Colleges and Universities. Placements can be local, domestic, or international. Do you have ideas of where you would like to be placed?
